PPOSITION GR DUSING

ANGRY residents have blasted con- By CHRIS MOSS troversial plans to build hundreds of homes on a swathe of farmland bordering Old Harlow.

Updated proposals for the construction of more than 1,000 homes, a new primary school, shops and community facilities on green fields off Gilden Way were unveiled at two public consultation meetings at Mulberry Green Village Hall last week.

But in scenes echoing a similar consulta-tion event in 2007 when the plans were first mooted, hundreds turned out to voice their opposition to the development.

Those attending expressed concerns over increased traffic, inadequate sewage facili-ties and the extra strain any development is likely to put on local services including schools, hospitals and GP surgeries.

A number of petitions were immediately started, including one by Sheering Road resident Colleen Morrison who said a poll of the public conducted over both days of the consultation showed that 99 per cent of people attending opposed the development.

"This is a crazy set of proposals that would make Harlow's existing traffic gridlock far worse and place unsustainable pressures on our services, schools and healthcare," she told the Star.

"With thousands more houses on the cards for Newhall, Harlow North and the town centre Gateway scheme, Harlow's overdevelopment is way out of control and contrary to Sir Freddie Gibberd's brilliant masterplan for the SCHOOLBOY Samuel Redgewell felt so strongly about the development proposals he decided to take action by starting his own petition against the plans.

Samuel (8), of Priory Avenue, Old Harlow, asked his Year Six classmates at Churchgate School to add their names to the protest after collecting signatures from family members.

"After my mum told me about the plan to build loads of houses on the fields, I came up with the idea to start a petition and asked my friends at school to sign it," he said. "Most of them felt the same as me; we don't want to see a huge housing estate built on the land.

"It's a great place for us to go for walks and ride bikes, and it would be such a shame to lose it." Mum Sara said: "With youngsters increasingly glued to their computers and TV screens, it's so important for them to be able to make use of the town's limited open

Green light for new waste plant on industrial estate

SIXTY jobs could be created in Harlow after councillors paved the way for a waste recycling and biomass plant in

Work is set to start next summer on the new combined heat and power centre which will treat up to 240,000 tonnes of waste from homes and businesses every year. Essex County Council agreed the plan on Friday. It is hoped the plant will boost recycling and landfill diversion levels in the area.

However, the company behind the plan, Sterecycle, has still to secure the funding it needs to convert a seven-acre site at Templefields.

Alistair Shotliff, the company's development director, said: "We're pleased Essex County Council has approved our plans for the site in

"There is a pressing need for waste treatment facilities in this area and this has been acknowledged by the planning authority.

"We are offering both local authorities and businesses a solution to the rising landfill tax and an environmentally acceptable way of diverting biodegradable waste from landfill without relying on mass burn incineration."

The new plant will be built inside an existing warehouse in River Way.

Once operational, waste will be treated with steam and pressure within interconnecting autoclaves to separate recyclable material from waste that can then be made into biomass.

This can then be used to enrich soil or as a clean source of energy.

The facility will also generate enough electricity to power its own operation and feed electricity into the national grid.

A report to the county council's development and regulation committee said up to 60 per cent of waste can be recycled or mad into biomass.

The company is currently expanding its facility in Yorkshire, the completion of which is expected in mid 2011.

If Sterecycle can secure funding for the Harlow project, construction will begin upon completion of the centre in

Safety scare over mystery powder

EMERGENCY services closed off part of a road after two police officers were contaminated with a suspicious white powder during an incident in Bush Fair.

The officers had been sent to a flat in Tawneys Road at 7.45am on Thursday after receiving reports that a woman had suffered a violent reaction to a drug. She was taken by ambulance crews to Princess Alexandra Hospital and treated in the intensive care unit. Police said yesterday (Wednesday) she was making a good recovery after having earlier been in a critical condition scene to wash down and decontaminate the officers who came into contact with the unidentified white powder, which has been sent away for tests.

It is believed the powder was a mild irritant and others who came into contact with the woman were also treated at the scene.

Gareth Boynton, an emergency planning manager from the East of England Ambulance Trust, was one of those who attended the scene.

"We deployed the ambulance service's hazardous area response team as precaution in case the incident was going to be a larger-scale decontamination, but thankfully this didn't appear to be the case and they assisted where needed," he said.

arrested for possession of a Class B drug and has been released on police bail until December 14.

Thousands expected at fireworks celebrations

BONFIRE night celebrations will go off with a bang in the Town Park next Sunday (November 7) when Harlow Council holds its annual fireworks spectacular.

Thousands of residents are expected to attend the free dis-play, which starts at 6.15pm with a radio roadshow and live music

The bonfire will then be lit at 7.15pm with a fireworks display following at 7.45pm.

There will also be an on-site funfair and refreshments.

As with last year's event, Fifth Avenue will be closed before and during the event due to the large number of spectators arriving on foot to the showground.

Limited disabled parking will be available free of charge on the showground up to 6pm.

Meanwhile, the council is teaming up with County Hall, police and the fire service to launch Operation Bang Out Of Order in the town centre tomorrow (Friday).

The annual campaign aims to highlight the dangers of misus-ing fireworks and will be backed up with additional police patrols across the town and test purchases at fireworks retailers to crackdown on illegal sales.

The initiative will remind people to consider their neigh-bours before setting off fireworks and warn against the use of fireworks in public places.

District commander Ben Hodder said: "We want people to have fun but not to the annoyance of others.

"We want people, particularly young children to be safe and not to be a casualty of the celebrations. We will take a hard line on those who show no respect and break the law."

"The proposals represent a significant investment on behalf of the consortium in the local area. Aside from responding to the council's identified need for new homes, especially affordable housing, the scheme would also generate valuable employment opportunities.

"Furthermore, the scheme would include additional facilities, which the consortium wish to determine on the basis of local feedback."

Councils braced for cuts as spending is squeezed

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BOTH Harlow Council and Essex County Council are bracing themselves for swingeing budget cuts in the wake of the Government's Comprehensive Spending Review.

Funding for local authorities up and down the country will be reduced yearon-year and Harlow Council has already warned that cuts will impact on the services it provides. With pressure on councils to deliver

With pressure on councils to deliver what are termed priority services, it is likely that discretionary services will take the brunt of the savings. Examples of these in Harlow include The Playhouse, The Museum of Harlow and Pets' Corner.

This week Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson admitted there would be tough times ahead but insisted no decisions have been made yet.

"We know that there are valued services for both residents and councillors and we have said that we will do all we can to maintain and protect the services most important to local people," he told the Star.

ple," he told the Star.

"These types of services are discretionary and, therefore, the council does not have to directly fund or provide them by law them by law.

"The administration has already outlined its commitment to keeping a museum service in town and it recognises that both The Playhouse and Pets' Corner make Harlow a better and nicer place to live."

He added: "Like all councils, we are waiting for the full details of how our Government grants will be affected by the CSR."

POLITICAL activists joined forces with trade unionists and pensioners to stage a demonstration in Harlow town centre against the CRS.

Harlow Against The Cuts held the protest last Wednesday to coincide with Chancellor George Osborne's announcement of his £81bn cuts package.

Group members handed out leaflets and spoke to members of the public about the impact they believe public spending cutbacks will have on jobs, wages, public services, benefits and pensions.

Among those taking part were members of Harlow Labour Party, Harlow Respect Party, Harlow Socialist Workers Party and Harlow Trades Council.

Mark ro

"The elderly have done badly in the last year with the cuts in funding to the Active Retired service," he said. "I think we're going to see more of these Group organiser Tom Topley said the aim was to unite opposition against the cuts and argue for an alternative policy of taxing the rich, building council houses to create jobs and reduce homelessness and increasing benefits and pensions.

"The Harlow public seem totally opposed to this Government's brutal cuts programme," he said. "They see that it is an attack on the poorest and the most vulnerable in our society.

"It is truly obscene that this government of millionaires allows the super rich to rake in massive salaries and bonuses and avoid billions in tax, yet at the same time can take £18bn a year from the poorest people in society."

kinds of cuts.

"The CSR was more of an attack on families and vulnerable people than it was on the people who caused the deficit – the bankers."

Liberal Democrat councillor John Strachan said the CSR will be bad news for Harlow. "Under the Tories we have seen

"Under the Tories we have seen services cut that didn't need to be cut," he said. "The administration has cut everything it can.

"This gives them an excuse to cut even deeper and harder. It will be tough but there is always a choice and we need to get our priorities right."

Over at Essex County Council, bosses are also waiting to hear what the final settlement grant will be from the Government.

Council leader Peter Martin said: "There clearly is going to be some financial pain for all local government."

"Here in Essex we have been preparing for this for some time and we are well ahead of many other councils in the UK in terms of savings."

More detailed financial information for councils is expected next month.

BUSINESS leaders in Harlow have given the CSR a cautious welcome.

Vance Rowe, chairman of the Harlow and District Chamber of Commerce, said that cuts had been expected by the business community.

"What the business community needs is a stable financial environment," he said. "If this is what we need to do to create that stable environment then we will support it"

then we will support it."

He added: "The International Monetary Fund upgraded the UK's ratings immediately after the announcement so from that positive perspective we're in a better position.

"There will be some casualties too and that's a concern, but Business Link in Essex has got funding for another year which is good news."

Labour group leader Mark
Wilkinson said he was extremely fearout ful that the ruling Conervative adminby istration would cut frontline discretionary budgets for the third year in a

WEEK'S GOVERNMENT SPENDING REVIEW

ESSEX POLICE

CUTS to the number of police oficers on the streets of Essex are "inevitable" in the wake of the CSR.

Essex Police will have to save around £50m by 2014 as a result of reductions in Government funding and other financial pressures faced by the force.

Deputy Chief Constable Andy Bliss, pictured, said the constabulary will have to make major changes.

"As more than 80 per cent of our budget is spent on officer and support staff salaries, there will inevitably be fewer staff employed by us as we move forward to work in a climate of tighter budgets," he

"We are currently working on a completely new blueprint for policing and are taking the opportunity fundamentally to re-design all aspects of how we deliver our services."

He added that there was still scope to cut more spending without affecting local policing, despite savings of £17m made in the past two years. Sharing the costs of services by working closely with other forces is already saving the constabulary cash and there is potential for further collaborative work in the

PRINCESS ALEXANDRA HOSPITAL

WORK has already begun on an efficiency drive at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow.

NHS funding has been protected by the Government but ever-increasing costs and cuts in other services mean PAH NHS Trust will still have to tighten its belt.

A spokeswoman said: "Despite minimal real term growth across the NHS, additional annual costs such as inflation on drug costs and pay awards will need to be accounted for within our existing financial envelope because no extra money will be available to pay for these.

"In addition, the large cuts to social care budgets could put extra pressure on NHS services. In reality this will require the trust to ensure it works much smarter and harder." She added: "The trust has already begun work on an efficiency drive through which we continue to identify cost savings and remove inefficiencies without negatively affecting patient safety and quality."

In fact, a whole host of Santas headed for the Town Park for the official launch of St Clare Hospice's fundraising Santa Run, which this year will take place on Sunday, December 12.

The success of last year's inaugural run, which raised £7,300 for the hospice, has persuaded the St Clare fundraising team to repeat the exercise. And once again the Star will be supporting the event.

More than 200 people took part in last year's run, dressing up in Father Christmas costumes to run the 4km course around the Town Park.

This year it is hoped that more than 300 people will sign up to take part in the run, which starts from the Town Park

Showground near Pets Corner at 11am.

Children will receive a free Santa hat when they sign up while adults will receive a full Santa suit.

There will also be pre-start stalls, games and entertainment – including a merry warm up – to get participants in the mood and off to a flying festive start.

And you don't have to run if you don't want to. Last year some people jogged round while others completed the course at walking pace – accompanied by their dogs!

Registration costs £15 for adults (16 and over) and £5 for children. Children under 15 years old must sign up with an adult.

"Already this year between April and August St Clare has provided specialist care to nearly 60 families from Harlow alone," said Tracy.

A FURIOUS dog owner has blasted litterbugs after her 10month-old puppy slashed its mouth on broken bottles dump-

"Kai was just sniffing around when he yelped in pain," said Alison.
"There was blood gushing from the

Alison added: "The play area seems to be a favourite meeting place for local yobs and they just dump their rubbish and broken bothers." tles without a second thought for anyone's safety.

Girls to stand trial for GBH and affray

FOUR teenagers accused of being involved in a violent altercation outside a Harlow super-market which left two girls with stab wounds will stand trial next May.

All four were charged with causing grievous bodily harm with intent and affray following the fight between two groups of girls on steps leading down to Sainsbury's from Fourth

A 17-year-old from Waltham Cross, a 16-year-old from Stevenage and two 16-year-olds from Enfield appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday. All four deny the offences. The girls, who cannot be named for legal reasons, were remanded on bail until May 30 next year with a condition they do not enter Essex other than for court appearances.

Lib Dems' fees shame

SIR, I attended the General Election hustings debate in Harlow where Bill Rammell claimed that the Liberal Democrat commitment to abolish tuition fees wasn't worth the paper it was written on.

This was vehemently denied by the Liberal Democrat candidate who claimed his party was the friend of students. Now we know the truth. Not only are the Liberal Democrats not going to abolish tuition fees, in government with the Tories they are proposing to raise fees from £3,000 to £7,000 or even £12,000 a year.

On the same day that Vince Cable made this announcement, his party's website still spouted the six-point plan to abolish fees under the section entitled "What we stand for".

The word hypocrisy is too readily banded around in politics but it's never been more justified than in describing the conduct of the Liberal Democrats on this issue. Their claim they inherited a financial crisis they couldn't foresee before the election is rubbish. The deficit was smaller and growth higher than Alistair Darling predicted before the election.

The simple reason the Liberal Democrats made the commitment to abolish fees, knowing it would be impossible to deliver, was that they never thought they would have to deal with the issue in government. The Liberal Democrats have always made fantastical claims, knowing they wouldn't have to implement them.

This time they've been found out and they ought to be utterly ashamed. I hope people remember this when Liberal Democrats come knocking for support in the local elections in Harlow.

lan Beckett, chair, Harlow Labour Party Spencers Croft, Harlow

Review is not all bad

SIR, I accept that the Spending Review was tough but everyone knows we've run out of money.

No matter who won the election there would have been cuts. Labour's figures suggested that they would have cut only marginally less

So it is false of Labour to pretend that they would have responded differently. And despite having to make some very painful and difficult decisions on spending, there were some good things in the Spending Review

People on low incomes will pay less income tax, the NHS will get £4bn extra investment and a new Cancer Drugs Fund of £200m, pensions are getting a proper increase, the lowest paid in the public sector will get a £250 rise next year, there's a £2.5bn Robin Hood tax on the banks, 75,000 extra apprenticeships this year, a "pupil premium" so that schools in poor areas get more money, council tax will be frozen and 150,000 new affordable homes will be built over the next four years.

And on top of this we keep the winter fuel allowance and the BBC licence fee will be frozen for many years.

Guy Mitchinson Joyners Field, Harlow

An unholy alliance

SIR, The Tories have been singing the praises of the Institute of Fiscal Studies for years but now the IFS has exposed the fact that it's the poorest who'll suffer most after the Chancellor's draconian spending cuts they're suddenly dismissing them as producing distorted figures and talking complete nonsense.

This is par for the course for the Tories when in office and their assault on the vital public services people rely on has more to do with ideology than fiscal prudence. Millionnaire Old Etonians don't rely on public services so why should they give a damn?

However, the position of the Liberal Democrats is surely now untennable. They've jettisoned everything they held dear and everything thing they've always fought for or against in exchange for the dangling carrot that is a referendum on electoral reform.

We must work together in this time of dire need

SIR, Two years on from the financial earthquake, the aftershocks continue to hit.

Here in Harlow, as elsewhere, we are bracing ourselves for the spending cuts. The worst is expected to hit in the first few months of next year but many already reel

In our own town, redundancies are part of the landscape. The heart is being torn out of many lives and families.

The mountains of debt makes this recession much harder to face. The number claiming Jobseekers Allowance in Harlow from July 2006-2010 rose as follows: 45 per cent for those 18-24, 62 per cent for those 25-49 and 76 per cent for those 50 and over.

It is possible to survive an earthquake. If buildings are structurally strong they will weather the storm. How can we weather the storm? There is much we can do.

We mustn't be afraid to face the truth. It is easy to deny how serious things are but facing the truth is the first step in finding solutions.

The voluntary sector has much to offer but inevitable funding cuts are already undermining good work. We need to be working together, co-ordinating resources as much as possible.

Local communities can set up support groups and can signpost to those who might be able to offer advice and help.

There needs to be close co-operation between the voluntary sector and the council. Pooling resources, addressing the problems together, can make a huge difference.

On Shrove Tuesday next year (March 8), the new Bishop of Chelmsford is planning a prayer vigil for the unemployed in Chelmsford. We are planning our own vigil in Harlow and I invite all to join us for that event.

In the meantime, I would be glad to help gather together all who might be able to help so that we can work together to fight this evil. Please contact me on martin. harris@messages.co.uk

> Reverend Martin Harris Chairman, Heart4Harlow Churches Working Together for Harlow

What they fail to realise is that electoral reform will ensure hung parliaments and coalition governments from here to eternity and after the current coalition have finished decimating this countries public services noone will ever risk having a coalition government again.

The Tories have brilliantly manipulated the Lib Dems, resulting in the support for Clegg and his shallow party sinking to 10 per cent in the latest poll. The mantra is 'We're all in it together' but under this unholy alliance it's clear that the less well off are deeper in it than most.

Bob Johnson Wissants, Harlow

SIR, I am a retired ex-teacher and have voted Labour all my life, but I will be voting Conservative at the next election.

The "pupil premium" is a brilliant left wing idea. It will target funding at poor pupils on free school meals to give them the best possible start in life. It will help thousands of people in Harlow and will increase social mobility.

David Cameron may turn out to be the most left wing prime minister in a generation.

Thomas Allen Fir Park, Harlow

Pantomine politics

SIR, I know it won't be long before it's Christmas but someone should tell Robert Halfon that pantomime season hasn't started yet

He says that his constituents "will welcome this Robin Hood public spending statement". I don't think so. He says the budget is fair. Oh no it isn't. This isn't a pantomime, it's a farce and a damaging one at that.

Does Mr Halfon really think that that those public sector workers living in Harlow who now have to live through a period of uncertainty and job losses welcome this spending review?

Does he think that those people whose best prospects of obtaining work or staying in work requires them to commute will manage the burden of rail increases of 30 per cent over the next five years?

Does he, as a long-standing proponent of "Harlow housing for Harlow people", think that the 6,000-plus people on the housing waiting list will welcome the Government's plans to slice 60 per cent off the social housing budget and ask new tenants to pay much higher rents? Or does he only champion the swank-pads on the outskirts of the town that for most people would require a win on the lottery?

In aligning himself with the description Robin Hood, Mr Halfon thinks he can hoodwink Harlow constituents into believing he's all for taking from the rich and giving to the poor. Try convincing those with families who are seeing cuts in child benefit, child tax credits and child trust funds that this is anything other than fantasy.

He will also claim that the levy on the banks that will bring in £2.5bn is another of his brainwaves when, in fact, the Robin Hood Tax movement proposed a 0.05 per cent levy on bank transactions that would have brought in nearly 10 times as much and save much of the pain that the country will now

Perhaps before Mr Halfon speaks on behalf of his constituents he should actually ask them what they think. The consequences of not doing so and the consequences of supporting this cruel budget may very well mean that if he asks where his political future lies the answer will be a resounding "It's behind you!"

Bridget McAlpine Vicarage Wood, Harlow

Bank tax is justice

SIR. So Mr Halfon thinks the Spending review is a Robin Hood strategy. I wonder what he means?

The cuts announced last week hit the poorest people hardest. In the same week banks announced bonuses at pre-crash levels.

Isn't it time for justice for ordinary families and businesses? For the one in five British families faced with a choice between buying food or paying the heating bill. For the 200 million people around the world forced into poverty by a financial crisis they did absolutely nothing to bring about.

We are all paying for a party we weren't quite invited to. A tiny tax (The Robin Hood Tax) on the financial sector can generate £20bn annually in the UK alone. That's enough to protect schools and hospitals, enough to stop massive cuts across the public sector.

For every cut we hear the Government announce we must keep asking could a tax on the banks have paid for that?

The Robin Hood Tax is justice. The banks can afford it. The systems are in place to collect it. It won't affect ordinary members of the public, their bank accounts or their savings. It's fair, it's timely and it's possible.

Sister Gillian Price St Elizabeth's Convent, Much Hadham

Why not eat out?

SIR, After reading Jim Palling's letter about the civic dinner, I believe there is a need to take the issue on a little further.

I agree there is a lot of political opportunism going on around the issue and agree that if another party had overall control there would probably be little opposition to a jolly up, as it were.

The councillors involved surely must have known that this arrangement with other council leaders would have got out and caused many people to get angry, especially in the current financial climate. We hear a lot from our political leaders and local Government representatives about being in this together but that seems to only apply to everyone apart from political figures. Even though certain councillors haven't done anything legally wrong they have morally in this time of cuts to the public

I understand the powers-that-be need to promote the town to other authorities but why does it have to be the lord mayor's banquet revisited all the time? Harlow has plenty of reasonably priced restaurants to eat in and this may be a good opportunity to show other council leaders the town itself whilst dining out in it.

So why does it have to cost thousands of pounds for a bite to eat? How can it be justified canceling events like the Town Show and then holding this kind of event, which is an insult?

There is still a bad taste in people's mouths from the MPs expenses scandal and when it comes to election time the political world shouldn't be too surprised when voting turnout is low if this is the way they behave

> Alex Plumb Dads Wood, Harlow

Casualty of overspend

SIR, Am I the only one who is baffled by the fact that Princess Alexandra Hospital is overspent because it is treating too many people in their emergency unit?

Surely no-one can precisely predict the number of people using this service, yet the powers-that-be ration the number that they are prepared to pay for and the excess that they have treated means an overspend by the hospital.

Are we now to see patients being turned away because the allocated number for that period is being exceeded, so the burden will then fall on other hospitals?

Just imagine, an ambulance driver being instructed to turn around and go elsewhere. Will the service return to sanity when the hospital becomes a foundation? I hope so.

Service is rubbish

SIR, I am losing my patience with the refuse collectors, or should that be non collectors? Once again they have not taken our recycling waste.

To be honest I have had enough. I've made complaints as long as my arm and it is just not good enough. I feel as if we are being victimised!

We are the end of a terrace so how on earth can we be missed?

I'm so angry and by the time the council respond our recycling rubbish will be strewn around our area because of this incompetence.

When will the collection service be going out to tender again as our crew are awful? I've lost count how many times this has happened vet the council tax continues to rise and I certainly get no refund for petrol spent on disposing of my own recyling. And they have the cheek of issuing fines for not recyling properly.

So much for Harlow being green, and environmently friendly.

New appeal to catch killer of village loner

By SINEAD HOLLAND star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DETECTIVES investigating the four-year-old murder of a 61-year-old man at his home in Sheering believe the key to finding his killer still lies within the local community.

The body of loner Michael Shipton, who was known as Joe, was discovered at his home in The Plashets in March 2006.

Despite an investigation during which police interviewed more than 700 people and the case was featured on the BBC Crimewatch UK progamme, his killer has never been caught.

This week Essex Police and members of Mr Shipton's famiissued a fresh appeal for information.

Detective Sergeant Ed Mayo said: "Despite the passage of time, we are determined to find who killed Joe Shipton

"Someone knows who is responsible and I believe that their conscience may be trou-bling them, so now is the time to contact police or give informa-tion anonymously via Crimestoppers

Mr Shipton's sister, Betty Taylor, said: "Joe is dearly missed by the family and we hope with the passage of time anyone with any information surrounding his murder can now come forward and help the police.'

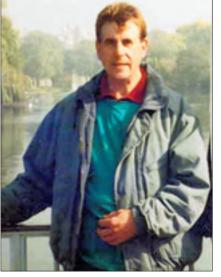

Mr Shipton was murdered between 4.30pm on Friday, March 24 2006 and 10am the following day. At the time police said he was the victim of a callous and cowardly attack and left to die alone.

A post mortem investigation revealed he died of head injuries caused by being struck several times with a blunt instrument.

His body was discovered after a concerned friend called at the house, where he lived alone. His wife, Johanna, left him in the 1980s and had taken their daughter, Lisa, with her to Denmark

Police found no evidence that the attacker forced their way in but are keeping an open mind on whether Mr Shipton knew his killer.

Police said he was well

VICTIM: Michael 'Joe' Shipton

known in the area, travelling around by bicycle. He had lived at his home for many years and drank at the local pub.

He was made redundant from his job in the 1970s and did gardening and other odd-jobs for cash. He had no real close friends and would sometimes not be seen for some time, although he maintained contact with his relatives by telephone.

Following his death, posters and leaflets were distributed around the area appealing for information. A reward was information. A reward was offered for information leading to a conviction but to date noone has been arrested.

Detective Sergeant Mayo said: "Someone knows who killed Joe and now is the time for his family to get some answers and see justice done."

Anyone with any information about the case should call the Brentwood major investigation team on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111

The reward of £5,000 is still on offer for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person responsible for the murder. It is valid for three

Judge reduces sisters' jail sentence after admitting he made a mistake

TWO sisters who were jailed for smashing up the television of a man who they believed had behaved inappropriately towards their cousin have had their sentences reduced.

Judge Rodger Hayward Smith, who presided over the case of Kayleigh Blunnie (24) and Michelle Thorne (26) at Chelmsford Crown Court earlier this month, admitted at a special hearing on Monday he had made a mistake in the original sentencing.

Blunnie, of Westfield, Harlow, and Thorne, of Canons Brook, Harlow, had pleaded guilty to a joint charge of criminally damaging the television set and two chairs at the home of Mark Cooper in Brockles Mead.

Both were sentenced to 17 weeks in prison but were released immediately because of the time they had been held in custody on remand.

However, this week the judge said he had made an error when passing the sentences because the maximum length of imprisonment for a charge of criminal damage was three months and not six.

As a result, he said he would reduce the length of sentence he had first imposed to

BURNT MILL: Pupils from the First Avenue secondary school made a splash for cash after taking part in a sponsored swim.

The youngsters took part in an hour-long swimathon to raise money for St Clare Hospice.

The event was the first swimming fundraiser organised by the Hastingwood hospice, which relies on donations to provide care and support for people who are terminally ill or who have life-threatening conditions.

St Clare fundraiser Vicky Parker said: "It was wonderful to see so many students taking part and really pushing themselves.

"Everyone had a great time and we are all very grateful to the teachers and the school for offering to take part and support us this way."

The charity now hopes to open up the fundraiser to other schools in the area so more swimmers can take part next year.

REEDINGS JUNIOR: Pupils at the school in Bullfields, Sawbridgeworth, joined thousands of schoolchildren across the globe by taking part in International Walk to School Month.

The children wore high-visibility vests donated by housebuilder Barratt North London to take part in the initiative.

Headteacher Ann Arrandale said: "We always encourage children to walk to school in a safe and sensible fashion where possible and so initiatives such as these are welcomed.

"By increasing physical activity every day, children and families will reap the benefits of walking to school – meeting new people, reducing congestion outside schools and having the opportunity to burn off some energy before learning begins."

A Barratt spokesman added: "Not only does the campaign encourage children to get more exercise by walking to school but it helps relieve congestion outside schools and help reduce pollution."

STEWARDS: Students tucked into some tasty treats at the school's annual cultural food event.

They were joined by parents, students, governors and members of the local community to celebrate culinary excellence showcased by representatives from diverse ethnic groups, with traditional food from Poland, Ghana, China and and Italy among the dishes on offer.

Students from Waltham Forest College helped to cook a vast array of mouthwatering dishes with help from Stewards Hospitality pupils. There was also live music. Headteacher Marie Erwood said: "Cultural diversity is at the heart of everything we achieve at Stewards and the scale of this event is testimony to the many years of work in our local community."

Slimming pills 'doctor' ordered to repay £1m

SUDESH MADAN

A DOCTOR who continued to prescribe slimming pills to patients at clinics across the country, including one in Harlow, after being struck off the medical register has been ordered to pay more than £1m under the Proceeds of Crime

Sudesh Madan was told at a confiscation hearing held at St Albans Crown Court on Tuesday she had six months to pay the sum or face four years in prison. Earlier this year Madan (58), from Romford, was jailed for 18 months after she admitted selling Phentermine and Diethylpropion after slimming pills at Easy Slim clinics across the country, including one at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, Harlow. The court heard Madan led her patients to believe she was a doctor and would prescribe them the pills after a consultation. A week's worth of pills, which could help suppress appetite, would typically cost £20.

Madan used the profits from the sales to fund a luxurious lifestyle. She had a number of properties in the UK and overseas, drove expensive cars with personalised plates and took luxury holidays. She was caught when police officers carrying out routine inquiries as part of an investiga-tion into a fatal road traffic collision in 2009 were told by the driver of the vehicle involved she had been taking slimming pills pre-scribed by Madan.

Although the pills were not found to have contributed to the road accident, further inquiries led officers to become aware of Madan's clinics across the country.

She was arrested in December 2009 after officers executed a series of warrants at the clinics. During a search of home and the clinics they found 24,599 Phentermine and 13,269 Diethylpropion tablets and capsules. Vanessa Kemp, a financial investiga-tor with Hertfordshire Constabulary's economic crime unit. said after the hearing she was delight-ed with the out-

"Despite being struck off and without any care for her patients, her greed and selfishness motivated her to pose as a registered medical practitioner and prescribe these slim-ming pills which could have put them at risk," said Ms Kemp.
"All the while, she spent thousands of pounds on living an extravagant lifestyle without a care for the people who had placed their trust in her."

Detective Inspector Ian Butler said: "This has been a detailed and cominvestigation which has seen officers working across country liaising with a num-ber of police forces to establish the full circumstances of the

Family and friends toast Ted's 90th

LABOUR Party supporter and lifelong Spurs fan Ted Mawdsley celebrated his 90th birthday with help from the bosses of his two favourite 'teams'.

Former Harlow College lecturer Ted was handed cards from new Labour leader Ed Miliband and Tottenham manager Harry Redknapp at a party to mark his birthday.

He was joined by former colleagues, friends and family for the celebrations at Marigolds in Chippingfield, Old Harlow

"It was an excellent party," he said afterwards. "It had a very warm feel to it and it was lovely to see so many old faces there, some of whom I hadn't seen for a long time.'

The party was organised by Ian Turner, one of Ted's former college colleagues.

"Ian somehow managed to arrange the whole thing despite the fact he now lives in Wales," said Ted. "I can't thank him enough." (photo: HAR0688871) (photo: HAR0688871)

Norman's film tops the bill at opening night

By DAN PHILLIPS daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ORE information has been tumbling onto the Nostalgia desk about Sir Norman Wisdom's association with the town.

A couple of weeks ago we asked readers for memories of his visits to Harlow over the years and ex pat Michael Marshall contacted us with an interesting fact.

"I can't remember Norman visiting Harlow in the late 1950s," writes Michael from Melbourne in Australia, "but it was his film Follow A Star that was shown at the opening of the Odeon cinema in February 1960.

"It was a night that I remember well because, as a 10-year-old, I was part of the choir from Tanys Dell Primary School that sang the National Anthem at the opening."

The event started with a forecount played by the Metropolitan Police Central Band, followed by a performance by organist Gerald Shaw

Following the National Anthem the formal opening ceremony was conducted by the chairman of Harlow Urban District Council, Mr E.W. Buckle.

The event was also marked with a personal appearance from British actor Michael Craig before showings of Disney's The Ama Girls and Running Dry. Then came the screening of Follow A Star.

The pamphlet reads: "Like birthdays, Christmas, Hogmanay and other happy occasions, new Norman Wisdom films come round once a year."

Meanwhile, Ray and Dorothy Wood, of Spinning Wheel Mead, brought in another programme, this time from when Norman brought his special brand of tomfoolery to The Playhouse.

"I remember the show," said Dorothy. "He did his Mr Grimsdale act. It was great to see famous people from your youth live at The Playhouse. I remember seeing Ken Dodd and Max Bygraves, who I preferred, but my husband liked Norman Wisdom."

The programme features this classic anecdote from Norman's youth.

"I did a lot of gymnastics and I often shadow-boxed with an imaginary partner. Then, when I let the imaginary fellow knock me down, that was the first step towards the tumbles I later did in my stage act."

DO YOU REMEMBER: Opening of The Playhouse

WHILE on the subject of gala nights in Harlow, how many readers remember the opening of The Playhouse in 1971?

The long-awaited event was nearly spoiled by an afternoon tiff involving one of the artists on the bill, according to local historian Ron Bill.

However the evening went ahead as planned and all agree it was a big success.

Ron's book, A Civic History of Harlow Council 1955-1985, reports that the new theatre played to audeinces of 70-80 per cent capacity during its first eight weeks.

If you remember The Playhouse's first night and would like to share your memories with our readers send them to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email

Woman sees her ... in toast!

CRUMBS! This unique work of art was created by a Leicester woman using a staggering 9,852 slices of toast.

Laura Hadland (27) asked 40 friends to help her make the massive mosaic out of 600 loaves of bread.

They used nine toasters to brown the bread to different degrees before arranging it to make the 32ft by 42ft picture of her mother-in-law's face.

The wacky artists spent six hours perfecting the image before surprising her husband Mike Hadland's mother, Sandra Whitfield, with the unusual portrait as a 50th birthday present.

The enormous work of art, created in Sandra's home town of Warrington, set a new Guinness World Records title for the largest toast mosaic.

Laura told reporters: "As a museum curator, I spend lots of time with Roman mosaics so it was great fun to make a modern one out of my favourite food - everyone loves toast!

"It's a treat for Sandra made with much love and a sense of randomness. She's certainly not a stereotypical mother-inlaw, she's one of my best friends and I love her.'

Mrs Whitfield, a divorced mother of two, cried with joy when she saw the unusual birthday gift.

She said: "I love toast but it feels very strange seeing my face made out of it! "I'm really overwhelmed because they have gone to so much effort."

Government extends Insulation Scheme to save YOU money this Autumn & Winter

CAVITY WALL INSULATION FROM ONLY £149

SAVE ENERGY - SAVE MONEY - STAY WARM

As part of its "Carbon Emissions Reduction Target" (CERT), the Government has instructed energy suppliers to increase the amount of Home Insulation installed in Great Britain. The scheme has just been extended and to ensure the targets are achieved, generous grants are being offered towards the cost of insulating your home.

SAVE ON HEATING BILLS THIS WINTER

Government figures show that up to half of your heat escapes through un-insulated walls. By insulating your home, you can reduce heat loss and cut your heating bills by up to £550 a year. Your house will warm up more quickly and you won't have to keep the heating on for so long. Not only that, you will be saving energy and helping to protect the environment.

GOVERNMENT BACKING

The Department of Energy & Climate Change (DECC) recently issued this statement: "By properly insulating homes, people can save money on fuel bills, protect the warmth of their home and cut carbon emissions. It's estimated the most energy inefficient homes in the UK could save, on average, around £550 per year by installing insulation measures." Climate Change Secretary Chris Huhne demanded that energy suppliers work harder to insulate lofts and walls ensuring that consumers, especially low income vulnerable households, receive measures which can offer significant energy bill savings.

OUALITY & SERVICE

Castle Point Insulation (CPI) has been insulating homes for over 30 years. The company has a reputation for providing quality installations and a high standard of customer service. In recognition of our dedication to deliver value to our customers, CPI was awarded a contract to insulate homes in 20 regions of the UK under the Warm Front Scheme; a Government funded initiative. We are able to offer grants for insulation to homeowners with the firm understanding that; you will receive the same high standards of workmanship and service but at a fraction of the normal cost. It is not necessary to change fuel suppliers in order to qualify; the grants are not means tested and they do not have to be repaid.

www.cpi-direct.com

WHAT IS CAVITY WALL INSULATION?

A trained technician drills small holes in the outside wall. The insulation material is then pumped into the holes using a specialist machine until the cavity is completely filled. The holes are made good to match the existing wall. Once installed, cavity wall insulation requires no maintenance.

• Every cavity wall installation is inclusive of a 25 year CIGA Guarantee.

Castle Point's skilled Technicians insulate thousands of homes

every year

- The Government strongly recommends cavity wall insulation for all suitable housing.
- There are grants available for loft insulation. The National Insulation Association states that loft insulation should be topped up to 270mm (10.5").

FREE TO LOW INCOME HOUSEHOLDS

As part of the Government's Fuel Poverty programme, households in receipt of some income-related benefits or tax credits may be entitled to FREE cavity wall and loft insulation. To qualify, you must own your own home or rent it from a private landlord. Please call for details.

CAVITY WALL INSULATION - PRICE GUIDE

Members of the Harlow School Band will provide entertainment from one of the Jack Petchey Foundation's four floats in this year's parade on November 13.

The foundation will be celebrating 10 years of encouraging, recognising and rewarding young people, with each float designed to reflect its work in the community.

One of those taking part will be Harlow College student Amy Thomas (16), who said: "This is so exciting. It's a great opportunity to be part of the Lord Mayor's Show and the idea of it being

Care provider to create jobs

LEE TAYLOR

THE boss of the new Harlow branch of a leading UK home care provider has pledged to create more than 100 iobs in the district within the next year.

Lee Taylor hopes to recruit and train at least 10 care and support workers before the opening of his Caremark office at the Greenway Business Centre next month.

The firm has more than 20 years experience in providing care and companionship Bv CORREY FACCINI star@hertsessexnews.co.uk to vulnerable, elderly and disabled people living in their own homes, with services ranging from providing company to 24hour personal care.

Mr Taylor, who will provide full training for new recruits from his Harlow base, said he anticipated the service will grow steadily over the course of the year.

"The plan is to build strong links in the community via social services and the private market and to steadily increase the amount of hours we provide each month," he

"We will build a team of approximately four or five office-based staff and have a team of care and support workers who are monitored by a team of field care supervisors.
"As the hours grow so will the team. This is a franchise model and we are looking to emulate what other offices are doing in the network. "My business will be to provide care and support to people in their own homes and their communities.

We will closely with individuals to determine exactly what support they require and when they would like to receive it before selecting care and support workers which best meet the preferences of each customer.

Medical safety post for lawyer Madeline

A HARLOW lawyer has been appointed to the panel of a leading campaigning health charity.

Madeline Seibert, a partner at law firm Attwaters, was selected for the solicitors panel at Action Against Medical Accidents.

The panel puts patients in contact with lawyers specialising in complex medical negligence cases.

Membership of the panel is restricted to an exclusive group of solicitors who must have a track record of success.

The appointment marks a double success for Madeline, pictured left, who was also recently appointed to the Law Society's clinical negligence panel. She has specialised in dealing with medical accident claims with Attwaters for 10 years.

She is the second Attwaters partner to be appointed to the AvMA panel, following in the footsteps of team leader David Kerry.

"AvMA is a fantastic charity which campaigns for patient safety and justice for those whose have suffered as a result of a medical accident," she said. "I am tremendously proud to have been given this accolade by such an admirable organisation."

Attwaters has offices in Harlow and Loughton, with 11 partners and 60 staff.

Lions mark a milestone

HARLOW Lions Club celebrated its 30th anniversary on Thursday with a festive lunch for members, along with representatives of its twin club in Germany.

The Lions dined at the Hunters Meet Restaurant at Hatfield Heath to recognise members' service locally, nationally and internationally since its launch in 1980.

Club president Ronni Ayres told attendees, including regional district governor Derek Greenwood, that the club's showcase 'Message in a Bottle' scheme had been an outstanding success.

More than 800 kits designed to encourage people to keep their personal and medical details on a standard form and in a common location, the fridge, have been handed out.

She said: "It is the intention of the club that this will be an ongoing project and anyone in the community can contact the By DAN PHILLIPS daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Lions to request a 'bottle', either for themselves, relative or friend.

"And the Fragrant Begonia Project has enabled Harlow Lions to donate the proceeds to All Ability Sports and Leisure Group of Harlow and local Scouts and other community groups have received help as needed."

The group also plans to hold collections at local supermarkets to fund Christmas hampers for lone or vulnerable older members of the town.

The club twinned with a club from Ottersberg in Germany in 1987 and since then they have joined forces to work on a number of projects.

Their attendance at the luncheon was the latest of many social exchanges and holidays between the club's members.

The club meets at the Maypole Sports and Social Club, London

Road, Old Harlow.

Mrs Ayes added: "In order to expand the service we can offer to the community we would be delighted to welcome new members to join us at our meetings, held on the first and third Thursdays of the month, the latter involving guest speakers.

"We would also be happy to accept offers of help for specific fundraising activities or attendance at social occasions from people who may be unable at present to commit to full membership of the club.

"We also need specialist help in connection with the inspection, repair and possible refurbishment of the club's caravan and the Snowman trailer, which was a popular feature at Christmas in the town but is now needing some TLC." Anyone who would like to join the club or help the group with the refurbishment of the caravan can contact the club on 1845 833 5742

BBC man recalls great interviews

A FORMER political correspondent for the BBC recounted memories of many famous people and incidents as guest speaker recently for the Epping Probus Club. as many other memorable moments.

The next meeting of Epping Probus will be on November 10 when speaker Alan Dowsett will talk about the Forth Bridge.

The club, which is for retired or semi-retired men, has more than 60 members and has a few vacancies for newcomers.

Anyone who would like to join should contact the club secretary, Peter Francis, on (01992) 573188.

Quiz success

A QUIZ night has raised more than £600 for The Stow-based charity that offers training and assistance to vulnerable adults. Ten teams took part in the quiz at the Charis Centre in Bishop's Stortford on October 2 in aid of the Cornerstone Trust. The varied quiz included a crisp testing section.

Chief executive Wendy Grafton said: "It was fantastic to see more than 80 people having a great time whilst supporting a worthwhile local cause."

MP to make a splash for charity

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon will be hoping to make a splash as he takes part in his third sponsored swim for a good cause.

This time, Mr Halfon will be swimming for the Harlow branch of the Alzheimer's Society at the Park Inn Hotel in Southern Way on Saturday, December 11. He wants to beat his previous best time of 2hrs 19min non-stop swimming and at the same time get the backing of residents, whatever their political persuasion.

"The Alzheimer's Society has many stalwart volunteers who give so much of their time to help others," he said.

"I am a long-time supporter of the charity and will continue to do all I can to help raise awareness of the society and its great work locally."

To make a donation towards Robert's sponsored swim, visit his Just Giving page at www.justgiving.com/Robert-Halfon1.

Chills and thrills at wicked fright nights

By CHRIS MOSS chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

EXPECT spine-tingling thrills and chills when spooky stage spectacular Harloween begins a three-night run at The Playhouse tonight (Thursday).

Harlow theatre school Academy Arts will be among five local performing arts groups giving brave audiences a fright to remember with a fun-filled fear-fest showcasing the burgeoning talents of the region's young superstars-in-waiting. The show will feature excerpts from hit West End musical Wicked, a tribute to the classic zombie dance routine taken from Michael Jackson's Thriller, spooky poem readings and devilish dance routines, all compered by Academy Arts tutor and Captain Jack Sparrow lookalike Anthony Palmer.

But the fun won't all be confined to the stage, with audience members invited to take part in a traditional apple-bob, a game of pin-the-tale on the monster, frightening face-painting and a fancy dress-to-distress competition.

Academy Arts director Nina Jones told the Star: "We wanted to give families the opportunity to enjoy Hallowe'en in a safe, warm environment.

"There's nothing worse than traipsing around the streets in the freezing cold trick-or-treating people who'd rather be left alone – this show offers something completely different.

"There really will be something for everybody in the show, from song and dance routines to spooky poems and scary stories, capped off with loads of audience participation and plenty of

The show runs until Saturday, with performances starting at 6.30pm (1.30pm Saturday matinee) and tickets costing £15 (£10 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

Anyone purchasing tickets for the Saturday matinee performance can get money off by quoting "Let's scare the whole town" when booking.

Build your own mini-masterpiece at workshops

CRAFTY youngsters will get the chance to make their very own version of one of Harlow's iconic sculptures during a workshop at the Museum of Harlow on Saturday.

Organised by Friends of Harlow Sculpture with support from Harlow Renaissance, Cardboard Sculpture Day is the first in a series of events planned to celebrate Harlow's status as a Sculpture Town.

Led by Essex artist Nicola Burrell, the first workshop invites children to use images of the sculptures as a source of inspiration to turn their ideas into a cardboard sculpture to take home. Cardboard modeling provides an innovative means of looking at and appreciating sculpture, allowing children of all ages to design and build their own mini-masterpiece. Harlow Renaissance chief executive Andrew Bramidge told the Star: "We're very pleased to be working with the Friends of Harlow Sculpture to celebrate Harlow's designation as Sculpture Town.

"It's incredibly important to involve young people in learning about the heritage of Harlow and what makes it a special and quite unique place in terms of public art. "Sculpture Town is a key series of artist-led workshops we hope to enthuse local people as well as projecting positive images to those outside of the town." Workshops run from 10am-noon and 1-3pm and cost £1 around the next dimly lit corridor. Consequently, reviewing the followup to last year's sleeper hit is a perilous business. Discussing the plot in the even broadest terms feels like a spoiler.

Opening with a solemn thank you to "the families of the deceased" Paranormal Activity 2 employs the same mosaic of security camera footage and family home movies that had audiences gnawing their nails down to the cuticle a year ago. Director Tod Williams' visual bag of tricks is almost identical to those of the original, including some jumpout-of-your-skin boos and bangs that should have those of a nervous disposition cowering in their seat. Kristi (Sprague Gravden) and her husband Daniel (Brian Boland) welcome baby Hunter into the home which they share with Daniel's teenage daughter Ali (Molly Ephraim) from his first marriage. Soon after we learn that Kristi's sister is Katie (Katie Featherston), the ill-fated heroine of the first film. Her appearance confirms that Paranormal Activity 2 is a prequel set two months before the chilling events of its predecessor.

Kristi senses a dark force in the family home. Daniel scoffs at his wife's ghost stories but Ali is excited about the prospect of a visitation.

Paranormal Activity 2 leaves us with a large knot of tension in our stomach as we get sucked into Kristi's nightmare, including some upsetting scenes involving baby Hunter and the family dog.

Scriptwriter Michael R Perry intentionally knits together the two films using Katie and her boyfriend Micah, including one caption for August 9, 2006, which reminds us: "60 days before the death of Micah Sloat"

It's all very polished but there's very little that audiences haven't seen before - strange shadows falling across a sleeping resident, doors creaking open, peculiar scratching and knocking.

A pivotal night-time scene involving Kristi is a more elaborate staging of a similar scene with Katie in the first film but extremely effective nevertheless.

Cinemagoers returning to a dark, empty house be warned – you can look forward to a sleepless night.

The usual thrills, with polish

By Iain Dooley

hat's your best memory of Subaru's Impreza? Like many it's likely to be a blue car with a big wing flying through a forest at an impossible speed. It might even have the late, great Colin McRae at the wheel.

Like all good things, such memories don't last forever. Subaru's bold choice to switch from a four-door saloon to a fivedoor hatch stunned loyal fans. There are always two sides to this of course, and Subaru"s desire to boost its business with a more Euro-friendly hatch was a perfectly understandable one. WRX and STi performance models followed and have, on the whole, been well received. But here's the thing; with Subaru now keen to reposition itself as a maker of semipremium models and a recent resurgence in the popularity of compact, premium sports saloons, the four-door Impreza WRX STi is back.

Only don't call it an Impreza -Subaru isn't – as dropping the name is part of a bigger rebranding plan for the high performance variant. Of course, if it looks like an Impreza and goes like an Impreza it must be

FACT file

Subaru WRX STI

PRICE from £32,995

Engine: 2.5-litre petrol unit developing 300bhr Transmission: 6-speed manual driving all four wheels Performance: Maximum speed 158mph / 0-62mph 5.2 seconds Economy: 243g/km

A development of the existing five-door, adding a boot has brought back a familiar profile.
One thing missing is a mile-high rear wing, although a modest one can be specified. Again, this is part of Subaru's premium repositioning of the car. Lary wings are a throwback to past times, crazy insurance premiums and, in Subaru's case, a high profile motorsport programme.

That's not to say that the car itself has gone soft. With 300 horsepower available from Subaru's now familiar 2.5-litre four-cylinder 'Boxer' turbo engine, this WRX STi has been designed to deliver all the usual thrills but with more polish. Certainly, the lack of a monster rear wing helps with that image. Frankly the four-door WRX STi is chunky and imposing enough without it. Its muscular wheel arches and deep front bumper send out all the right messages. At the rear the quad tailpipes ape those of the Impreza hatch, but this time there's no race carlike diffuser.

In keeping with the car's newfound premium positioning, the cabin includes higher grade materials. The obvious change from the regular Impreza is the inclusion of a pair of Recaro sports seats for driver and front seat passenger.
The rest of the improvements are more than skin deep, with this Impreza adopting the 'Spec C' suspension specification that would be more familiar to fans of Japanese market import models. Changes to the dampers, anti-roll bars, bushes and the steering have resulted in a more rounded character. Less 'pointy' and nervous than UK market STi cars of old yet capable of striking a pleasing balance of ride comfort and agility on poorly surfaced roads, this new WRX STi is still eye-poppingly rapid when it counts but won't dislodge your fillings in the process.

The car's ability to cover ground at a rapid pace is without question. The slight rear bias of the four-wheel drive system allows you to have some fun in the corners, too. That you can fine tune the behaviour of the centre differential and the throttle response adds a welcome extra layer to the experience.

Also welcome is the generous level of standard equipment on this WRX STi. The noticeable uplift in cabin quality is worthy of praise, as is the inclusion of numerous airbags, an unobtrusive electronic stability system and a decent audio unit boasting auxiliary and iPod inputs, plus Bluetooth phone connectivity.

With its unusual but torquey turbo engine and the inclusion of an intelligent all-wheel drive system, Subaru's four-door WRX STi model offers enthusiasts a driving experience that's unique in this sector. Sure, most semipremium cars at this price point are quick, but none can match the Subaru's quirky character and all-weather capabilities.

In a world where 'me-too' has become the default setting for everything from exterior design to steering feel, it's refreshing to see a maker brave enough to stick to its principals. Subaru acknowledges that the WRX STi won't appeal to everyone, but if you find yourself drawn to the WRX STi's blend of styling and performance you're destined to have a blast.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be. If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Reunion return for karate chief

FORMER Harlow Shotokan senior instructor Steve Wilson was present to sign copies of his book at a club reunion. The event was attended by more than 50 people and held at Burnt Mill School.

Wilson had copies of his recentlypublished book More than just the belt. Wilson, (55), has now retired from teaching and training and his book charts his 32 years in karate and 45 vears in Harlow.

Wilson, a 5th dan, said: "Harlow Shotokan was probably one of the first clubs in the area, having been established in the town for almost 40 years and I am pleased to say it is still going strong.

Karate

"Many students from the old days came along and it was great to see them all again. We even had a visit from one of the original club members, Bob Spencer, who was an instructor at the club over 35 years ago."

On the night the children's class was well attended and Wilson was invited to take the senior class.

The club now boasts a membership of around 40 junior and senior students.

Ladies' six of the best

HARLOW Ladies maintained Harlow 6, Southend II 1 their momentum with a comprehensive home victory Southend II on Saturday.

The hosts' early pressure saw Bethan Spencer hit a post from close range.

Southend were quick to counter-attack and broke the deadlock after eight minutes when a shot from a centre-forward was deflected past home keeper Linda Rowley.

Undeterred Harlow equalised three minutes later after Sonya Amos won a penalty corner.

Skipper Emma Tweddle and Carolyn Rushton combined from the penalty corner to beat the Southend defence before the latter shot home from close range.

Tweddle got on the scoresheet herself on 16 minutes to give Harlow the lead, shooting past the diving keeper from the top of the circle.

Georgina Esterhuysen then capitalised on excellent play from Charlotte Byers and Sue

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

Douglas on 23 minutes to give Harlow a 3-1 lead at the break.

With the lead giving Harlow plenty of breathing space, the hosts were able to play their attacking brand of hockey in the second period.

The pressure put on the Southend defence told after 45 minutes when Anna Ferdinando, on a run to the back post from right midfield, was on hand to push home the loose ball.

Byers added another just 10 minutes later and Tweddle wrapped up the scoring. She rounded the keeper to slot home into an empty net on 58 minutes.

can counter attack them and we need to do so with numbers.

"I'm looking forward to it and if we do win it will send a message out to the town that we have a good football club. That will also be good for the finances of the club."

There are injury doubts surrounding two Harlow players.

Warren feels that central midfielder Leon Hunter could be out as he is struggling with a sore groin.

There is also a fear that midfielder Danny Brown (rib injury) might miss out.

Meanwhile, central mid-fielder Andy Porter has left

He suffered a dislocated shoulder early on in the season and was unable to get back in the first team.

Hawks first team assistant boss Danny Chapman said: "We chatted to him and told him he was not going to get a lot of first team opportunities.

"He would have to move elsewhere for first team football. There was no animosity."

Utility player Mark Taylor, who has been ruled out with a thigh injury, is still a couple of weeks away from starting train-

Narrow loss for plucky young side

THERE was little to choose between the teams when a weakened Harlow Rugby Club U-16 side lost 29-27 at home to Enfield.

The Rams were missing six players due to injuries and holidays and the visitors sportingly lent a player.

Sunday's result was largely determined by an Enfield wing who scored four of their five tries.

However, Harlow took a 12-0 lead.

Player-of-the-match Harry Judge went over for an unconverted try from a ruck and then Kurtis Knightley scored the second home try. This was converted.

Youth rugby

Enfield then came back with two tries. one of which was converted to make it 12-

Harlow took a 17-12 half-time lead after inside centre Connor Ramsey scored an unconverted try.

Enfield then scored an unconverted try, before a good home backs move set up Jess Healy for a try.

The conversion attempt narrowly missed as it struck the upright of a post and this later proved crucial.

Enfield scored two tries, one of which was converted to go 29-22 ahead.

Harlow were unable to equalise as another vital conversion was missed after Josh

Davies scored a try.

Win at last a relief for Rams

Harlow 36, Sudbury 5

RFU London & SE, division two north east

THE Rams have a good chance to consolidate their first win of the season when they take on basement side Beccles away this Saturday.

Beccles have lost all six games so far and have only picked up a point while Harlow are now two points outside the bottom three after last Saturday's morale-boosting victory.

Harlow kick-started their season with the home win over Sudbury, having lost their first five matches.

The Rams scored six wellconstructed tries, of which four came in the first 20 minutes.

Harlow went ahead within three minutes. Chris Webb followed up a Michael Dobson floating kick before passing to full-back Rob Mackie who touched down an unconverted try in the corner.

On eight minutes, the hosts scored their second try after strong forward pressure resulted in skipper Scott Romaine powering over the line for a try converted by Dobson.

A visitors' kick was charged down and Harlow quickly recycled possession before it was moved wide for left wing Simon Vanbeck to sprint over for an unconverted try on 15 minutes.

Harlow's lead then stretched to 24-0 on 20 minutes. Another good attacking move by the home backs saw Mackie come into the line to touch down close to the posts.

The Rams then gave away too many penalties and from one Sudbury gained a line-out close to the Harlow try line. They won this and then broke to score an unconverted try.

Harlow's forwards responded with a series of gains before the ball was spun out wide for Webb to score an unconverted try.

Harlow led 29-5 at the break. The second half was more closely fought and only saw one more try in the closing minutes.

A Sudbury player was tackled by Rob Treamer before the former's attempt to pass the ball a few yards short of the visitors' line was intercepted by Harlow centre Chris Bates, who touched down under the posts.

Back row forward Paul Eynon said: "It's great to have a win under our belts, but we now need to push on from here. Warren told the Star yesterday (Wednesday): "I watched him last season and I like him. He scored against us this season.

Coach upbeat as Osagie can build on Delhi result

Athletics by David Rimmer david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk athletics coach Craig Winrow believes Great Britain middle distance runner Andrew Osagie can be an international force for the next 10 years!

Osagie, from North-brooks in Harlow, represented England at the Commonwealth Games in India earlier this month.

The runner, pictured right, just failed to make the final of the men's 800m in Delhi with a time of 1 min 47.52 secs in his semi-final.

But at 22 years of age he certainly has time on his side as he continues to raise evebrows in the world of athletics.

Osagie qualified for the semi-finals of the 800m at the World Indoor Championships in Doha, Qatar in March.

Winrow, who has been Osagie's coach for the last three years, competed for Great Britain in the 800m at the Atlanta Games in 1996. He said: "I would love to see him in both the next Olympics. He could do another 10 years if he decided to go that far.

'A lot depends on how you treat your body. You can keep on going until your mind lets you down."

Winrow feels Osagie has some way to go if he wants to challenge for medals at the Olympics, but said things could change and was reticent about outright predictions.

"He would have to run at least 1:43, which is three seconds quicker than what he can do at the moment," said Winrow.

"However, things progress quickly with Andrew. It all comes down to how much training he can do. With someone of his talent he can make big leaps."

Osagie has had his fair share of injuries over the last few years, but Winrow hopes these behind the former Leventhorpe School pupil.

"We need hiccups to stop happening but the injuries are getting less. I want to get him in the best shape possible so he is in with a shout [of a medal in London 2012]." he said.

The European Indoor Championships [in Paris] next March and World Athletics Championships [starting in Korea next August] are key progress points in 2011, but Winrow stressed that London 2012 should not be the sole aim for Osagie.

"The Kenyans will not be there for the Europeans and he will be looking to get to the final and go for a medal," he said.

"The World Championships will be a much higher standard and you need to be running 1:43 or 1:44 to be up there."

He added: "Everybody is pushing for the Olympics in 2012 but it is not the be all and end all. Andrew will get stronger as he gets older and there is the 2016 Olympics."

Looking back at the Commonwealth Games, Winrow said: "He did OK tactically but in the last bend Andrew did not see the guy that came past him at the end."

Varuskins is due to fight in the ABA Eastern Counties final at Peterborough, Cambs, this Saturday.

This was after the 21 year-old pugilist, from Collins Meadow, won a unanimous decision over Suffolk southpaw Kelvin Smyth in the Eastern Counties semifinal. Varuskins was the Essex representative.

The BA Eastern Counties regional finals were held in Norwich, Norfolk, on Friday. Smyth suffered a bloodied nose in the second round and took a standing count in the third, before Varuskins secured the unanimous win from all three judges. Earlier, Varuskins, originally

THE goalscorers and playmakers may grab the headlines but it's worth noting that the Hawks' climb to the Ryman division one north summit has come on the back of a fantastic run of not conceding a goal in more than 400 minutes of play. Since the two goals Needham Market scored against Harlow Town in the first half of their 2-1 win on September 18, Kevin Warren's men may have conceded in cup competitions but in the bread and butter of the league they have not let in a single goal in 51/2 matches.
